New Tricks

The author Isaac Asimov said, "You are never too old to learn more than you already know and to become able to do more than you already can," and this week has been a great example of this for me. Yesterday I spent some time in Y4 learning all about the Asian artist Yayoi Kusama and how she used dots in her artwork. It was great to see how the children were so engaged in learning about someone and something completely new to them and how inspired they were with their work. It even inspired me to have a go and help some of the children, but they quickly told me that they didn't need any help from me which is either a brilliant example of their independence or a comment on how bad my art is! Either way it way I had fun! Have a great weekend.

Worship

This Week's Theme: Life Sustainer

How can we share what we have with others? This could be through charities, support or giving your time?

Next Week's Theme: Life Guider
